Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1082930A2] The device for forming folds in a curtain consists of a clip (4) made up of two halves which fit over the edge of the curtain (1). A spike (19) attached to one of the halves (5) is pushed through the curtain and is held in a conical recess (18) in the other half. A chamber (14) between the spike and the edges (24) of the clip holds the end of a strap which joins the clip to the next clip, forming a fold in the curtain.
