Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1085161A1] The edges of the glass panels which define the joining gaps have in some places or continuously grooves (5) which are opposite one another so that the holders (4) which are fitted on the support structure can be brought into engagement with the grooves of the two panels (1) by their head (6) inside the gaps (12) The heads of the holders can be lined on the circumference with an elastic layer (7) which takes up the heat expansions of the panels.
