Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1088757A1] The method involves moving some, e.g. half, of the objects (2) from a full bearer palette (1) to an empty palette (3), processing the objects on both palettes independently and finally replacing the objects on the bearer palette. The objects on the two palettes are subjected to the same processing steps, e.g. in separate identical transport security processing stations (4,5). Independent claims are also included for the arrangement for implementing the method.
