Abstract (en)
[origin: DE19829147A1] In order to assure a mistake-proof assembly of two partial pieces (6, 7) of a component part which is constructed, for example, as a connecting rod (1), the invention provides that said component part is to be separated, for instance, by fracturing in such a way that parting surfaces (24 or 25) which are situated on both sides of a punch hole (9) are located at a distance (28 or 29) from a plane (21).
