Abstract (en)
[origin: WO9954835A1] A method and system for selecting prospective candidates for a position of employment wherein there is provided a storage means (7) storing candidate information of the prospective candidates. Subscribing employers (9) or subscribing agents (10) may access the storage means (7) to find suitable candidates for the position. The storage means (7) is accessed via a communications network, such as the Internet (3). Authorisation must be obtained by the subscribing agent or employer from a candidate to view and access their complete candidate information, which may be a full curriculum vitae (C.V.), and upon such authorisation may be for a limited period of time.
