Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1094277A1] The door glass is pre-curved, and size and direction of the shaping are adapted to the temperature-dependent expansion of the glass pane (10), so that the curvature is not transferred to the other side of the glass door pane. The convex side of the glass is on the inside (4) of the oven, and the concave side is on the outside. The glass is a single or laminated pane, esp. toughened glass. The glass layer facing the oven interior has a higher heat expansion coefficient than the outer layer.
