Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1106213A2] The unit for climbing comprises at least one tarpaulin which can be folded or rolled up, and has at least one main surface providable with climbing grips. An Independent claim is also included for a method for producing such a unit. It involves production of a module which is provided with climbing grips and/or means for attachment of climbing grips, and is capable of being suspended from a holding structure.
