Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1118969A1] The machine has a number of rotary driven magazine drums with downwardly open peripheral magazine compartments (18) on a magazine plate (5) with an output opening (30) per drum leading to an output path. All magazine drums are mounted on a common plate that is movable between an operating position and a filling position and whose output openings lie above a funnel forming part of the output path when in the operating position.
