Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1120133A2] The exercise cycle (1) has a housing mounted on 2 parallel cross supports (9), provided at their ends (10) with support feet (11), each having a foam block (13) resting on the floor and a plastics coupling element (12) fitted to the cross support. Each coupling element is cupped for reducing its effective height relative to foam block in the direction of the outer end of the cross support, with a corresponding increase in the effective height of the foam block.
