Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0016724A1] An account has been given of a puzzle comprising two or more fields (14, 12) for the assembling of different, preferably associated motifs, with the help of familiar puzzle pieces (14a', 14b', 14c'... and 12a, 12b, 12c...) in each field (14, 12). In order to facilitate the use of puzzle pieces (12a, 12b, 12c, ...; 14a', 14b', 14c'...) in each field (12, 14), with a mutually independent division during the stamping out of the pieces from cardboard/plywood, such that, amongst other things, puzzle designs with varying grades of difficulty are facilitated, a continuous separating field (16) has been used in the area between the individual fields (12, 14) which separates the individual fields (12, 14) from each other.
