Abstract (en)

[origin: DE10006890A1] The connector has at least one plug module (10) for plugging and latching into a housing module. The plug module and the housing module are both designed to accommodate contact elements and the plug module has a locking arrangement (12,22,24) on at least one outer side for locking the contact elements in the plug module and/or the housing module. Independent claims are also included for the following: a plug system.
