Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1128019A2] The opening (21) closed by the removable wall may be at the projecting corner of a building. The guide rails (26,27) in the ceiling and the floor are of the same sinuous shape, with the top guide rail always directly above the bottom one. Pairs of rollers on the top edges of the narrow vertical slats engage with the top guide rail, while the bottom guide rail engages the bottom edges of the slats. The door slats are wound up on a vertical spindle when the door aperture is open.
