Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1130348A1] A cupboard for refrigerators consists of a box-shaped container with a floor, two side walls (2), a front wall and a rear wall made out of plastic molding that are provided at least in part with reinforced edge profiles. Each side wall (2) is provided with a hole (4) forming a handle that is closed on its upper edge by the reinforced edge profile (3) of the side wall. The reinforced edge profile is designed as U-shaped. The edge profiles forming the handles consist of hollow profiles made in the gas-filled internal pressure process. On both sides, U-shaped edge profiles join onto the hollow profiles.
