Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0030602A1] The present invention relates to the topical delivery of active agents, for example cosmetic compounds, to living organisms. In particular the present invention relates to the administration of therapeutically active agents in the presence of compositions obtainable from living cells known as oil bodies. The oil bodies of the present invention are especially suitable in applications where it is desired that the active agent is topically delivered. The oil bodies of the present invention are preferably obtained from oil seed plants.
