Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1136258A2] The web-fed printing machine has at least one printer (1,2) printing a web (10) which, with other web-lines (12,13) are guided over turning-bars (6,7) and then placed on each other on a former (8). The web of material and the lines pass over six pulley units positioned, respectively, in front of the printer, in front of the turning-bars, a third for each line, in front of the former and after the former, and in the cooler (4).
