Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1148203A1] One of the guides (11) or gliding elements in the body (10) is on a side other than the facing insides of the body and the guide comes in T- or L-section groove form (11). Closure is by roll shutter (20) or sliding door whose guides or elements are on the body exterior (104) and arranged on the e.g. cabinet walls or baseplate and cover plate. All parts of body to include both side plates and top and base are hollow in part at least so the guides and elements extend into this hollow. The guide elements riding in the grooves are balls or rollers and in the case of a roll shutter (20), the slats (24) house their rollers or balls and associated slides in the slat end caps (26).
