Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0045918A1] A fashion doll (10) and appropriately scaled child size doll (60) form a cooperating doll pair in which a sound circuit within the fashion doll is utilized to produce audible sound output in place of the much smaller child-sized doll. A conventional speech circuit within the fashion doll operates in response to play pattern movements (32) of the fashion doll to produce the sounds in place of the child-sized doll.
