Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1166983A2] The lump of clay (1) is arranged on the base section (4) of the metal mold. The base can be raised when the mold is widely opened. The mold sections (2, 3) are brought together. Before reaching a minimum gap between them, a decorative suspension is introduced into the gap. The mold is opened to extract the product, which is dried and fired. An Independent claim is included for the corresponding equipment.
