Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1172513A1] The box fitted on the underside of the lintel of a window or door accommodates an upwardly drawable sun protection, weather protection and/or shading devices. For incorporation of such protective devices (12,18), selectively on the outside (A) and/or inside (B) of the window or door, the two long sides of the box (4) are arranged at specific distances from the window or door frame (8). The box has a lesser width than the wall thickness in the area of the window or door. It forms at least a part of the lintel of the window or door. For installation of the protective device only on the outside or the inside of the window or door, the lower opening of the box on the inside or the outside is closable by at least one form piece.
