Abstract (en)

The sales cabinet comprises a product display (30) that is closed on its rear side by a plate (60). A lower part of the product display is inserted in a channel of the sales cabinet. An angle iron (40) extending between a left side member (20a) and a right side member (20b) secures the product display to the sales cabinet. The plate (60) is maintained between flanges of the product display (30) and a shoulder of the sales cabinet. The plate is further secured to the angle iron (40). The sales cabinet may also comprise removable separator members an edge of which extends adjacent to the rear surface of the plate (40). <IMAGE>
