Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1180648A1] The hood for a kitchen cooker has two compartments (8,10) connected to the main part of the hood by two openings (13,14). One compartment is connected to an opening (4) at the exterior of the building and the other (10) allows recycling of interior air. A filter (16) is movable between a position in which it is opposite the opening of the extraction compartment at low blower (6) flow rates and a position opposite the recycling compartment opening.
