Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0072710A1] The invention relates to a method of making tailor's-type clothes, of the type wherein at least one semifinished product (1) of a cloth finishing fabric (2) is bonded to a support web (3) in order to fashion it into a desired shape. The method comprises providing a web (4) which comprises an adhesive (7) at predetermined spots (5) or sections (6) thereof, the bond between the finishing fabric (2) and the web (4) being established by glueing at the shaping or fashioning stage of the semifinished product. Said spots (5) or sections (6) correspond to regions of the web (4) which were usually applied basting or loose-stitching operations.
