Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0071441A1] The invention concerns a liner comprising six faces one of which corresponds to the container door. At least one fabric strip is stitched only over part on the inside of the face corresponding to the door (6) and only over part on the inside of two adjacent vertical faces (4 and 8). On the other hand, the intermediate sections (5 and 7) of the strip are stitch-free and form reserves leaving free the vertical ridges constituting the joint between said adjacent faces and said face corresponding to the door.
