Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1186715A2] The snow plow has a plow share with parts held on a frame structure via elastic connecting rods (2). Each rod has a central deformation section (14) and two end bearing sections (12), which are wider and/or thicker than the deformation section. The transitional parts are each enclosed by a bag-like holder (19). Each holder has a clamp part and a cover, and the clamp part is fastened detachable to the frame resp. the plow share part.
