Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1187084A2] The information surface carrier (2) with an elongated cross-sectional form in horizontal section has at least one information surface (8) on one or both broad sides. The one broad side has a side surface arched around a vertical curvature axis and the other broad side has a flat side surface. In the one and/or the other side surface is at least one vertically running back-cut groove (24). The carrier comprises at least two support parts (2a,2b), which have a support part body with a horizontal elongated cross-sectional form and with the upright position of their broad sides and narrow sides are fixed to each other at a narrow side dividing seam by corresponding fixture components.
