Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1190972A2] The device for the distribution of flexible sheet-form objects to selectable target stations has several rigidly interconnected sheet deflection elements (11,12) which together are movable by a single drive unit (AE) and brought into switching positions allocated to the target stations. Two deflection elements may be provided and installed on both sides of a common pivotable mounting (10) and spaced away from the mounting's rotational axis (D), each element having a first sheet guide face.
