Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1209091A1] The closure for a bag comprises a strap which is sealed around the bag with a permanent connection. An inner section (3) is connected to the rest of the strap by perforations (4), allowing it to be torn out to open the bag. It can then be fitted on to the end of the strap and inserted into the aperture from which it was torn, making a resealable closure.
