Abstract (en)
The sealing strand (6) around the door element (2) is provided with a hole (12) in each of the door corners (10), the hole being completely surrounded by sealing strand material. The corners of the door protrude through the holes to hold the sealing strand in a pre-determined position around the outer peripheral edge (8) of the door. The door element is an essentially rectangular or square frame or panel, preferably a transparent pane, and it is surrounded by an elastic sealing strand.
