Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1212952A1] The shape of the shoe or slipper (5) is designed in order to facilitate the conversion from a flat shape into the actual device by closing a zip fastener (4) sewn around the front edge (3) of the shoe. A version comprising a heel part and a boot with a low shaft can also be created with this method. For transport, the shoe or slipper (5) can be returned into its completely flat, space saving shape.
