Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0111997A1] Men's underwear briefs are provided. The men's underwear briefs are configured such that inclined openings (2) are formed by cutting the left and right sides of a triangular underpants body (1) inwardly with an inclination, a supporting cover (3) is connected to the lower ends of the inclined openings (2) for accomodating the male penis and scrotum, and folded covers (4) folded along interior fold lines to be symmetrical with respect to the supporting cover (2). Therefore, the ventilation of the underwear is improved, thereby enhancing user's health and sexual function. Also, an unpleasant feeling due to excretion of sweat can be eliminated, thereby maintaining advantageous sanitary conditions of the underwear and enhancing a feeling of comfortable fit.
