Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1221289A1] Disclosed is a method for affixing a braid to natural hair, in which the braid is prepared by holding parts thereof together and applying a type of glue thereto, after which the glue is allowed to dry at least partially and the braid is subsequently affixed to the hair with the same type of glue. The method is suitable for the consumer market and can be used without any risk by the general public, without the use of professional hairdressing appliances being required. Braids of various colours can be packaged, together with glue, in an attractive over-the-counter unit. <IMAGE>
