Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1221522A2] Window case (1) comprises a molded window frame (3) in which a window leaf (5) is inserted via specified force-introducing devices. At least one of the force-introducing devices is designed so that it consists of fittings for mounting a tilting window leaf and/or a tilt-and-turn window leaf. Preferred Features: The fittings form a lower and/or upper linking point for the window leaf on the window frame. At least one force-introducing device is a fitting preferably for a tilting window leaf.
