Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1223049A1] Connectable presentation container, especially for written material, comprises a front wall (12), a rear wall (14), and a removal opening (20) opening upward. The front wall has an inspection opening (22) and the rear wall a coupling organ (24) for connecting to a neighboring presentation holder and/or a support body. The coupling organ is an attachment protruding from the rear wall which is inserted into the inspection opening of the neighboring presentation container and/or a recess of the support body and anchored in place on the edge (30) in a form-locking manner. Preferred Features: The attachment forming the coupling organ has a preferably cylindrical shaft (28) and a catch flange engaging with the edge.
