Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1223250A1] The wall-mounted ceramic urinal (1) has additional vertical ribs (14) at the upper section (4a) of the water flushing ring (5), to fill it with water at least partially on flushing, and be distributed through passage holes to give a water flow over the rear wall (7). The flushing water connection (10) at the inflow directs the flushing water upwards, to be distributed through the upper section of the flushing ring. The connection is of metal and/or plastics.
