Abstract (en)
The present invention concerns a device for treatment of prostatitis by drainage of prostatic fluid from the glands inside the prostate and comprises a massage arm portion for insertion into the rectal passage including abutment means for massaging the prostate positioned at the first end of the arm, a handle rod portion, said massage arm being connected to the handle rod at its second end, wherein said handle rod includes a supporting rod portion extending beyond the connection point for supporting the device on a supporting surface in such a way that a fulcrum point is provided for pivoting the device. Hereby, a device is achieved that is simple and relatively comfortable to use, either for a man diagnosed with prostatitis or by the doctor or another assistant helping the man carry out the massage of the prostate. <IMAGE>
