Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1920947A2] A paint tray assembly (10) for applying a liquid to a roller (26) having a bottom side adapted for resting upon a support surface and a top side, said paint tray assembly comprising: a reservoir (16) having a floor (18), a sidewall (20) extending around said floor for retaining the liquid to be applied to the roller, and a ramped surface (22) starting at or near a section (24) of said sidewall and gradually decreasing in height as said ramped surface extends away from said sidewall down into said reservoir, for allowing the liquid to be spread onto the roller, and excess liquid to flow back into said reservoir; and an engagement point (44) for hooking and pulling the paint tray assembly across the support surface; and wherein the external surface (42) of said paint tray assembly is sloped for forming said paint tray assembly having an external circumference narrower at said bottom side of said paint tray assembly where said bottom side rests upon the support surface.
