Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1238599A1] The clasp for a watch bracelet comprises two arms (2, 3) attached by pivots at their upper ends to the ends (B1, B2) of the bracelet. Rollers (6, 7, 8, 9) are mounted under these pivots. The lower ends of the arms are mounted on pivots inside parallel rails (1a, 1b) with a space (1c) between. When the clasp is closed the rollers move down over curved surfaces (1d1, 1d2, 1e1, 1e2) into a central space where they are held by transverse, rotating bars (12, 13).
