Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1243240A2] The upholstery (11) is held in a frame (17) consisting of two side parts (3,4) extending in the lengthwise direction of the treatment table, and two transverse frame parts (5,6) joining the two ends of the side frame parts. The outer and inner sides of the two side frame parts have grooves (7,8) acting as thrust pieces for a clamp (9) arrangement. Pre-tensioned locking bolts (10) positioned on the underside of the upholstery are supported against the grooves. Each of the two grooves extend from grooves (12,13) protruding at right angles from the underside of the frame.
