Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1244065A1] A franking machine has a casing made from a first casing part (1.1) that is designed to apply a weighing unit that can be retrofit. The first casing part defines a bay (2) in the casing designed for inserting the weighing unit. Near the bay there are fastening devices (3) designed for fastening a second casing part (1.2) for sealing off the bay.
