Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0150297A2] A system facilitates the purchase of legal services. The system receives a request for purchasing legal service from a buyer via buyer terminal, provides the request to a selected group of firms, and receives replies from firms in response to the request. The system then provides the replies to the buyer terminal, receives a selection from the buyer terminal in response to the replies, and notifies a firm of the selection and an identity of the buyer.
