Abstract (en)

[origin: DE10122881C1] The container in the form of a trough is contained in a recess (3) in a kitchen work surface (4) , table-top , work-bench or other surface and is covered by a lid (11). When the all-purpose cutter (1) is not operating, the entire container extends downwards from the work surface to where it does not impede the movement of the other built-in fitments such as drawers.
