Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1258639A2] The metal frame has inner (4) and outer walls (1) with bores (13,14) accommodating round bolts (12) each bolt has a flap or extension piece (8). It has a shank (10) bent through an angle of greater than 90 degrees to the axis of the bolt. There is a portion (10) of the extension approximately parallel to the axis of the round bolt, followed by a shank inclined towards the bolt and a final portion (7) parallel to the axis of the bolt. The final portion presses against the inside of the inner frame and covers a cutout (5) with an L-shaped lug (6).
