Abstract (en)

A process for forming an improved pre-glued strippable fiber glass wall-covering and a wall-covering is described which is obtained by a process comprising providing a fiber glass fabric, forming a first dried coating on both sides of said glass fabric that are applied from an aqueous dispersion comprising starch, and a polymeric latex binder, next forming a second dried coating on said first dried coating on one side only of said glass fabric that is applied from a chemical dispersion comprising paraffin and rheology modifiers with said second dried coating being capable to enable the removal of the wall covering from the wall, and next forming a third dried coating on said second dried coating of said glass fabric that is applied from an aqueous dispersion comprising starch in the absence of a polymeric latex binder with said third dried coating being capable of serving as an adhesive for the attachment of the resulting wall covering to the wall when wetted. <IMAGE>
