Abstract (en)
A container (10) for liquids or fluid products, including viscous ones, made by folding and heat-sealing a single sheet of flexible material. The single sheet is folded so as to form two mutually opposite quadrangular faces directly heat-sealed along two consecutive sides (12,13), while the third side (14) of each one of the two faces (11a,11b) is connected by an accordion-like portion (15) which forms a substantially triangular base for the container (10) and a fourth side (16) has an additional accordion-like portion (17) which forms a closure wall. The container has a filling opening (20) on one of the two first sides (12,13) or on the corner where they converge. <IMAGE>
