Abstract (en)

[origin: EP1274112A1] An electric lamp (1) has an electrically insulating base casing (2) and an electrically conductive contact element (3) to be inserted into a hollow space (4) in the base. The conductive contact element has a hollow space (5) to hold an external connector (6) running out of the electric lamp as well as a springy retaining overhang (7) to project into the hollow space and engage the external connector.
