Abstract (en)
[origin: WO0180196A1] A security tag has two encapsulating strips, with an anti-theft strip between the encapsulating strips. The encapsulating strips are attached to each other by an adhesive. In a method for making such a security tag, a first encapsulating strip is provided, an anti-theft strip is placed on the first encapsulating strip, an adhesive is applied to the first encapsulating strip, and then a second encapsulating strip is provided and attached to the first encapsulating strip using the adhesive.
