Abstract (en)

A dishwasher rack is provided with shelves (R) which can be tipped up to a vertical position around a horizontal axis (X), each shelf (R) being provided with a bottom cutlery grid (G) mounted for sliding in the transverse direction so as to be pulled out. In this way an optimal exploitation of the space of the upper rack is achieved by being able to arrange much cutlery (P, K) together with cups (T), glasses (E) and plates (M). <IMAGE>
