Abstract (en)

A structure for sofa-bed or armchair-bed includes a stationary base, acting as first section of the bed, provided with internal sliding guides (N) in which there is slidably engaged a mobile structure (M, T, T') supported by front wheels (R), said mobile structure being connected through lever systems to a second section (S, D, D') and to a third section (U, C, C') of the bed which are stacked and mutually hinged through front pins (X), the third section being provided with a foldable supporting leg (W). Said lever systems are shaped and sized so that the rotation of the third section around the pins (X), upon extraction from the stationary base, causes the rising of said second section and the horizontal alignment thereof to the other two sections of the bed. <IMAGE>
