Abstract (en)

[origin: WO0182232A1] Methods and systems providing an improved software development tool that generates HTML documentation for source code (2012) in a software project. The HTML documentation includes graphical and textual documentation (2008). The software development tool utilizes the linking capabilities of HTML (2004) to provide navigation links between the graphical and textual documentation, thus facilitating navigation through and viewing of the documentation.
