Abstract (en)
[origin: EP1293627A2] Connecting rod mounting has a closing pin (6) which is vertically guided into a locking direction; and a guiding element (7) arranged between the connecting rod and the closing pin. The guiding element has a guiding curve (12) for producing a withdrawing position of the closing pin in the open position and a protruding position in the locking position. Preferred Features: The closing pin is pre-tensioned in the protruding position or in the withdrawing position. The guiding element is formed as a leaf spring and is fixed to the closing pin and the connecting rod.
